

COLONEL GRIFFITH, GRIFFITH PLACED UNDER ARREST ON A CHARGE OF HAVING ATTEMPTED TO SLAY HIS WIFE

GRIFFITH J. GRIFFITH was placed under arrest about 11 o'clock last night. The charge is assault with intent to murder. Mrs. Griffith's relatives resolved at a conference held at noon to prosecute Griffith, if the wife is willing. Still in mortal fear for her life, Mrs. Griffith decided that it was best to proceed against him as the culmination of many years of married unhappiness. A warrant was obtained, bail was fixed at $15,000, and after several hours' search Griffith's attorneys sent word where he was. Griffith has no further statement to make. Mrs. Griffith last night was resting easy.

WILL BRING POWER
HUNDREDS OF MILES

Returns From the East and Promises Great Improvements

To bring electric power here from the San Joaquin valley.

That is the stupendous task which Henry E. Huntington expects to be able to accomplish in the near future. Announcement to that effect was made by Mr. Huntington last evening. The trolley magnate arrived quite unexpectedly yesterday morning, coming direct from New York on the Santa Fe overland.

He went east two months ago and since his departure the final papers in the Traction deal have been passed, and as Mr. Huntington is the largest owner of stock in the Traction property, he has come west to inspect it and order such improvements as will bring it up to the standard of the other Huntington lines.

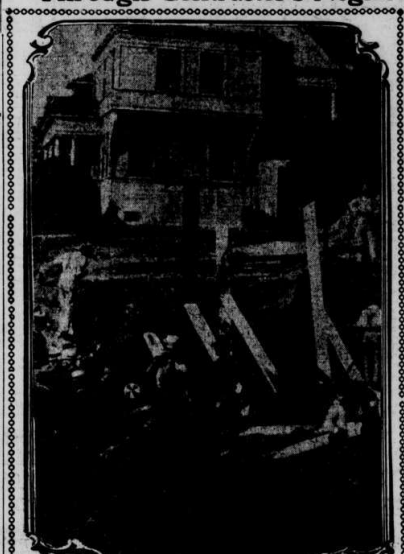

Speaking of his plans for supplying power for the future, Mr. Huntington said: "We expect to have the Great River plant in operation by the first of January. This will give us 10,000 horsepower.

"It will be adequate for all present needs, but we are growing all the time you know, and must anticipate the future. I have had my eye on the San Joaquin valley for some time and we may, in the near future, bring power from the San Joaquin river. Some surveying has been done already and more will follow. It is a long ways off I know—25 miles or more—but the immense amount of power that we could obtain 400,000 horse power from the San Joaquin district.

"As to interurban extensions, we are going right ahead building new lines as fast as rights of way can be secured. We should have been running into Whittier by this time, but there has been delay in the arrival of steel, and the men are now waiting for rail to complete the line.

Three Lives Are Sacrificed Through Contractor's Neglect

Trench Caves In on Site of the New Hotel Clayton

Injured:
JOHN BUNCH, colored.

Three men were killed by a cave-in at the site of the proposed new Hotel Clayton on the northeast corner of Sixth and San Joaquin streets yesterday afternoon. A fourth workman saved his life by the narrow margin, but sustained painful bruises.

The men were working in a deep trench, digging through the soft soil to reach bedrock. The trench was in the side of an embankment and was about nine feet deep on one side, while its other side rose to a height of fifteen feet. About 3 o'clock this side suddenly gave way, loosened by

WHERE THREE MEN LOST THEIR LIVES

The upper picture shows the bank after the cave-in. The cross marks the spot beneath which the men were buried. The lower picture shows the work of removing the bodies.

The first to be recovered was about fifteen feet from the east end, the features blackened and distorted from suffocation. The next was nearer still, while the last, his neck broken by a stone or heavy clod, lay face down at the very exit, his hands almost clutching the crumbling bank. He had failed of reaching safety by an inch.

Bunch, the negro who escaped from the trench, did not know the men he was working with and no one was able to identify them. Their names were only ascertained definitely by a call by Sub-Contractor G. T. McLean of 215 Loma drive, for whom the men worked.

It was claimed by many who had been observing the work that criminal negligence was responsible for the deaths of these three men. George McLain, the excavating contractor, admitted to The Herald that the trench was without props or braces of any sort and that no effort had been made to keep the bank from caving in.

READY TO REMOVE GARBAGE

Refuse Made Into Bricks for Fuel

Within a few weeks at the outside, Professor G. A. Bobrick, head of the Pacific Liquid Air and Oxygen company, will make an offer to this city to collect and handle all the city garbage and sewage, convert it into salable articles and remove all its offensive and dangerous parts by the use of ozone, the greatest agency for sanitation and the greatest sterilizer and disinfectant known to science. This without any cost to the city. He proposes to build two plants outside the municipal limits, one for the reduction of garbage, the other for the purifying of sewage and changing such refuse into pure water for use on the lands with liquid air. He is the only one constantly flowing through our outfall sewer to the sea and to convert that flow into 800 inches of sewer, absolutely pure, for irrigating purposes.

Professor Bobrick is the man who has been experimenting for many years with liquid air. He is the only one who has succeeded in erecting two practical plants for the manufacture of liquid air and oxygen, one in Washington, D. C. and the other in this city. The latter, the professor expressly states, is a private enterprise, conducted on strictly business principles, and is now on a paying basis. The Los Angeles plant has a capacity of about 1,000,000 gallons of gaseous oxygen per annum. Here he has worked for several months, experimenting, testing, planning, until he has demonstrated certain things to his own satisfaction and that of scientific men.

Oxygen Made Cheaply

One of the things that he has learned is that oxygen can be made very cheaply from liquid air and ozone from oxygen. Ozone (as near as it can be defined) is perfectly pure oxygen highly concentrated, and it is a powerful oxidizer and sterilizer. Its power as such has long been recognized, but up to this time the cost of obtaining it has been prohibitively high. In London and Paris the gas is used to sterilize drinking water, and at Niagara Falls a plant is being installed to sterilize the water for Buffalo. At these places it is manufactured from air and chemicals and a powerful electric current at a great cost, but has still been made to pay. It is a recognized fact that ozone is the most perfect sterilizer and disinfectant known to science.

And now comes Professor Bobrick with a method, simple, comparatively inexpensive, sure, safe and practicable, by which he obtains liquid air from the atmosphere, distills that into oxygen and concentrates that into ozone. He says that he can manufacture thirty cubic feet of oxygen for 1 cent and that (Continued on Page Three.)

BRIGANDS ATTACK DESERT CONVOY

Several Officers Killed in Severe Fight

AIN-REFRA, Algeria, Sept. 5.—A band of brigands attacked a convoy today in the vicinity of El Mungar and carried off 180 camels after a severe fight in which several officers and soldiers are reported to have been killed. Details of the affair are lacking.

TRAIN WRECKED BY CLODBURST

Passengers Injured in Overturned Cars

BURLINGTON, Conn., Sept. 5.—A clodburst in the Farmington river valley, near Burlington, this afternoon led to the wrecking of a passenger train on the New Hartford branch of the Northampton division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The train of three coaches was toppled over on its side and about a dozen passengers were injured, none of them, however, seriously. Had the coaches fallen in the opposite direction they would have gone into the Farmington river.

The clodburst washed out about 100 feet of the track at a point where the line makes a curve. The engineer did not see the danger point until his engine crossed it and parted from the tender and cars. The cars then toppled over.

The storm throughout this section is described as having been the worst in many years.

Plays Hide and Seek With a Deputy Sheriff

THE revolver was held on a direct line with the upper rim of the eye and close to Mrs. Griffith's eye.—Statement by Dr. M. L. Moore.

The weapon was a 38-caliber Smith & Wesson hammerless revolver. It is a weapon that shoots hard and is made to kill.

Around Town All Day But Not Located Till Late Last Night

COLONEL GRIFFITH submitted to arrest with his customary suave and airy manner. He examined the warrant, offered his bond and remarked: "We will all meet again, gentlemen, but under happier auspices."

He spent the night with his friend, Dr. Griffith of Valencia street.

Relatives of His Victim Determined to Prosecute

Here is the statement made by Mrs. Griffith, upon which the warrant for Colonel Griffith's arrest was issued:

BY MRS. CHRISTINA GRIFFITH

ON THURSDAY afternoon Mr. Griffith came down to the beach, as he was in the habit of doing, about 3 or 4 o'clock; he usually came down at that time and he went out driving for the purpose of exercising the horses. As we were to return to the city on Friday morning Mr. Griffith said that he would not take the horses out that evening, and we went out for a walk. We walked to the plunge and sat there a while and then went out. At a curio store we stopped and bought some souvenir postal cards and Mr. Griffith remarked that he would mail one to an uncle. After coming out of the bath house I said: "It's warm; let us get into the air."

Mr. Griffith remarked that I had better go out and commence packing and he would go over and call on Wiley Wells. I went to our room at the hotel and began to pack. After a while Mr. Griffith came in and said he would help me. He folded up a coat and pair of trousers of his, and I told him not to mind the little things in the dresser drawers, as I would attend to them.

Up to this time on that day nothing of an unkind or quarrelsome character had passed between us. Mr. Griffith had been pleasant in all his actions toward me on that day.

As we were packing he picked up my prayerbook and came to where I was. I noticed that he looked peculiar as he asked me the question:

"Would you swear on this prayer book the same as you would on a Bible?"

I looked at him and answered:

"Why, certainly."

He then said:

"Get down on your knees and answer these questions."

He also told me to close my eyes. I then noticed the revolver which he was holding in his right hand and behind him. I said:

"Griffith, put down that revolver; why do you hold it?"

He said: "You don't think I would hurt you with it, do you?"

I again asked him to put it down, but he did not do so. He told me to close my eyes, but I was frightened and only partially closed them. He told me to answer his questions, and asked:

"Did you ever hear or know anything about Brisswalter being poisoned?"

I said: "Why, no; I know that he had a sore foot and blood poisoning from that and nothing else."

He then asked: "Have you been implicated with or do you know of anyone giving me poison?"

I replied: "Why, certainly not; your surely know I have not."

His third question was: "Have you always been faithful to your marriage vows?"

I said: "As God is my judge, I have and you know that I have."

As I answered the last question he shot me. I was on my knees and I jumped up and rushed for the window; it was closed, but I managed to raise it and get out. I sprang out and fell to the roof below.

For a number of years Mr. Griffith has acted as though he was afraid of being poisoned; he seemed to try to conceal that fear, but I noticed it. Even at the hotel I had to order the meal for the family as a whole, for if it came in individual orders he would exchange portions with us. Some time ago he acted peculiarly;

GRIFTH'S FRIGHTENINGLY COMFORTABLY

One Eye Destroyed by the Bullet, but Attending Physicians Are Hopeful of Saving Her Life

One night he stood in the room and said sternly: "Come in here. I want to speak to you." His look and manner frightened her, but she ran out of the house and away to my sister's place.

GRIFTH'S ARREST

A MATTER OF FORM

Colonel Griffith was arrested at 11 o'clock last night at the residence of Dr. M. M. Griffith, 1415 Valencia street, on a warrant charging him with assault to commit murder. He was immediately released on $10,000, approved by Judge R. N. Smith.

The arrest was a perfunctory, pre-arranged affair. Colonel Griffith's attorney notified the district attorney that Griffith was ready to surrender himself and Deputy Sheriff Longwell was detailed to serve the warrant. Arriving at Dr. Griffith's residence, he was informed that Colonel Griffith had gone for a walk. He waited a bench outside the house until the colonel returned, when the deputy "arrested" him.

Colonel Griffith drew a paper from his pocket saying, "I think you will find this all right." The deputy sheriff looked over the bond, pronounced it satisfactory, and then arrested and released the colonel as easily as an exchange of cards by chance.

Colonel Griffith remained for the night with his friend of the previous evening, but is not related to him. He went to make an appointment for himself that already given him, but he was not to be seen.

"We'll all meet in a matter of days," he said to his friends, gentlemen, and under happier auspices.

The colonel passed the matter off with his customary lightness.

The bond in the case of the court of Justice J. F. Chambers and is signed by J. S. Stinson, occupation, farmer, when assets are $10,000, and Robert Hale, banker, who makes affidavit that he has $10,000.

ALL DAY CHASE

AFTER GRIFTH

District Attorney Fredericks was informed early yesterday morning of the statement of Mrs. Griffith as to the manner of the arrest. He was ready to issue a complaint upon anyone's making application, but no one appeared.

The telephone in the district attorney's office was kept busy by relatives of Mrs. Griffith who called in turn and asked for the colonel. The inclination of the family was to leave the colonel in the hands of the district attorney, but a conference was held for the purpose of releasing him.

It was determined that, if necessary, Judge Longwell should be attached to the district attorney's office, and that the district attorney should be present at the trial.

It was also determined that the district attorney should be present at the trial, and that the district attorney should be present at the trial.

The last visit had been made to the district attorney's office about 5 o'clock, and the district attorney had expressed his ignorance as to his employer's whereabouts.

Colonel Griffith, according to Judge Charles S. Stinson, attorney for Griffith, and learned from the district attorney, was encoined in the home of a friend awaiting developments.

Judge Stinson stated yesterday that his client had been eluding the police. "About noon," said Judge Stinson, "my client, Colonel Griffith, was very nervous and I advised him either to go to the Fremont or the house of my friend. He said he had an invitation to go to the Fremont, but I told him that I would go with him to the Fremont, and he went to the Fremont, and he was arrested there."

"Why, I never thought of that. I don't know which, but I hope they will find him."

While the reporter had been talking to Judge Stinson, a man in a suit and full beard had taken a seat near the table on which Judge Stinson sat, and as he learned the nature of the case, he was very much interested.

on the car behind Mrs. Whipple and the colonel Griffith met me and told me how it all happened.

"An eye told him what he said?" No, oh, dear no. I cannot talk about that now, but from what he said I fully persuaded that he never fired the shot."

Then Knight relapsed into silence and the clock reached its destination. The house was in darkness, but from Mrs. Dr. Griffith it was learned that her husband and Colonel Griffith had gone out for a short stroll and would surely return in a few moments.

Then came the arrest.

MRS. WHIPPLE THINKS SISTER WILL RECOVER

Mrs. Charles L. Whipple, sister of Mrs. Griffith, who was summoned to the wounded woman's bedside soon after the shooting, said yesterday that she was at the hospital all day yesterday. Since she had been at the hospital, she had seen the colonel, but she did not see him again.

She was called to Santa Monica on Thursday night when she almost succumbed to the shock and fatigue of waiting by the bedside.

MRS. GRIFTH'S LIFE was recovering last night from the nervous shock following the attempt on her life and her jump from the gable window, and she had rallied well from the surgical shock following the removal of her right eye and the reduction of the fractured left arm.

Friday Dr. Moore thought his patient in too serious a condition to stand the setting of the broken bone in the shoulder, but yesterday afternoon he removed the temporary dressings and found, instead of a broken shoulder blade, a fracture of the humerus, just below the ball which fits into the shoulder blade. The fracture was reduced and put into permanent dressings.

Mrs. Griffith recovered well from the operation and her condition was satisfactory to Dr. Moore. The only distressing symptoms were pains in the head resulting from the concussions of the head, but these are not considered serious and the only danger is from the appearance of meningitis in the wounded eye.

The reports last night gave Mrs. Griffith's pulse as 60, temperature 99½ and respiration normal.

DISCORD IN GRIFTH FAMILY, FOR YEARS

Griffith's life has been picturesque. Born in Glamorganshire, Wales, January 4, 1852, he was 14 years of age when he came to the United States and became the protégé of Benjamin Mowry.

Mowry gave young Griffith a first class education for the time. After two years course in the public school at Danville, young Griffith was sent to New York city, where he was graduated from the Polytechnic school.

After his graduation he followed the family business, and while there was advanced that his savings, amounting to $2000 or $3000, had been lost in the failure of the Old Fellows' bank of Pittsburgh, Pa.

During the mining excitement in San Francisco in 1873, where he had been working, he became a partner in a mining company, ultimately a general business manager of the company.

Griffith claims to have failed three times and to have nearly lost his money. He has been a family physician for many years and I have never heard Mrs. Griffith make the least complaint about her husband's conduct, and it was from her sister, Mrs. Whipple, that I have learned of family dissensions.

MINING INDUSTRY IN AMADOR NOT ENCOURAGING

A Slight Increase in the County's Assessment Made, However—Improvements Made to Mines in Calaveras and Assessments Reduced

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 5.—Supervisor John Pitts of Modoc county is the only representative of that county before the state board of equalization this morning. Modoc is a stock raising county, although the price of stock is depreciating. The principal grain grown is wheat, twenty bushels to the acre. This year the yield was not up to that of former years. There has not been much new property added to the assessment roll. The assessment on all town property was increased and an increase made on every class of property. In 1902 the valuation was $1,142,423. This year it was $1,212,423. This is $70,000 more. Generally speaking, the county is in a prosperous condition.

Amador county was represented by Assessor John Marchant and other county officials. The assessor said the condition of the affected mines in Amador county is not encouraging. There is only one dividend-paying mine in operation. The Kennedy mine was assessed for $114,000. The Argonaut mine has been idle since its litigation with the Kennedy mine. Although it won the suit, The Argonaut mine is assessed for between $50,000 and $60,000. Labor conditions are much disturbed on account of the strikes among the miners. The town of Jackson is dependent on the mines. Whenever a strike occurs, the town is paralyzed. The dispute between the Western Federation of Miners and the American Federation of Labor has had something to do with the unsettled state of affairs in Amador county. Should any more strikes occur the affected mines will close down permanently. There has been a decrease of 100 in the school census. Timber land is almost incalculable. There are seventy vacant houses in Sutter Creek on account of the closing down of some of the mines. Amador's assessment in 1902 was $4,683,830. The assessment for this year is $4,745,830.

Conditions in Calaveras
Calaveras county was represented by Assessor W. M. Nuner, jr., and other officials. This year's assessment was $3,557,900. This year's assessment is $3,572,900. This year's assessment said that some assessors claim, Judge from newspaper reports, that about 25 percent of the mortgages are assessed for less than their face value. If such is the case, said Assessor Nuner, the money lenders are surely not good business men, as they would not loan more than the market value of the property. He said that he can understand why 25 percent of the mortgages should be assessed at less than their face value, as the cash value in Calaveras county is assessed at less than five percent of the face value. And the mortgages given by the State Street bank against the property of the Mining company for $400,000 is assessed for only $125,000. He said that the mortgage was given to raise money for the purpose of prospecting and developing the mine and that it was possible to put the property on a dividend-paying basis.

Money Invested in Improvements
Assessor Nuner called attention to the mortgage held by the State Street bank and others to raise money against the Royal Consolidated mines of California for $250,000, which was assessed for only $200,000 for the reason that the mortgage was raised for the purpose of purchasing machinery and improving the mine. Since then the mine has been invested in equipping the mine, but other machinery has not been purchased. The stamp quarts mill, the finest in the state, is not the finest in the world. The total increase in valuation for the year from 1902 was 8 percent. In the last four years the increase was 20 percent. The Utica mine was reassessed for $100,000. The assessment of the present assessment is the fifth assessment. Possession and use of homesteaded lands are assessed at 10 percent per acre, agricultural and grazing lands are assessed at from $2.50 to $5 per acre. Average farming land is assessed at $10 per acre and the land in the mountains is assessed at $25 per acre. Average land is assessed at $10 per acre, and bottom land, $20 per acre. Possession and use of acreage quarts locations, $10 per acre. Improved gravel ground, undeveloped, $10 per acre; patented quartz, undeveloped, from $500 to $50,000. Timber lands are assessed from $2 to $10 per acre, the average price being from $4 to $5, although the Sequoia group of forty acres is assessed at $200 per acre.
