

Video Transcript: Los Angeles Valley College's Career and Academic Pathways

Los Angeles Valley College's Career and Academic Pathways helps students select a program of study and accelerate their progress towards completion of certificate, degree, or transfer requirements that lead to a career.

The Art, Media, and Design Pathway leads to a variety of professions including possible careers in architecture, visual, fine, and performing arts, entertainment, editing and writing, graphic, commercial, and industrial design.

The Health and Public Service Pathway leads to a variety of professions including possible careers in nursing, education, police, firefighting, respiratory therapy, childcare, and health and fitness.

The Manufacturing, Electronics, and Construction Pathway leads to a variety of professions including possible careers in engineering, construction, electronics, manufacturing, and machinery.

The Social and Behavioral Sciences Pathway leads to a possible career in a variety of settings, from large corporation to NGOs to government agencies, using skills related to anthropology and archeology, counseling, economics, geography, history, psychology, and education.

The Business, Entrepreneurship, and Law Pathway leads to a variety of professions, including possible careers in accounting, real estate, bookkeeping, management, and sales.

The Humanities and Communication Pathway leads to a variety of professions, including possible careers in visual, fine, and performing arts, public speaking and public relations, graphic, commercial, and industrial design, and editing, writing, and post-secondary teaching.

The Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math Pathway leads to a variety of professions, including possible careers in engineering, biology, chemistry, computer science and programming, mathematics, physics, web development, and post-secondary teaching.

Come start your pathway at Los Angeles Valley College today.